SOUTH PARIS WITHOUT MOVIES

Strand Theatre, in the chain of the Maine and New Hampshire Corporation, was closed indefinitely at the end of last week after a run of about two years with the sound pictures. When a change was made from the silent drama to the talkies the plan to abandon the place was reconsidered on persuasion of a committee from the Chamber of Commerce.

Finally the sound apparatus was installed at considerable expense and being a new thing, daily patronage for a time seemed to warrant the investment. For some months the theatre has been twice-a-week schedule using the films shown at Rex Theatre in Norway on previous evenings.

Special shows have been given at times by the Community Club and business concerns and the service has been handy for educational and commercial purposes.

Charles H. Merrill

Charles H. Merrill died very suddenly Friday forenoon at his home in Paris Hill. He had been in ill health for some time, but had not been confined to the house.

Mr. Merrill was born in Paris, Oct. 1, 1859, the son of James and Eliza (Dunham) Merrill, and was a resident of the town for much of his life.

He was three times married, his first wife being Rosie Sturtevant, and to them were born four children. The second wife was Nettie Boyer, and the third, who survives him was Edith Briggs. Four daughters also survive him: Mrs. Bertha Bunker of Grafton, Mass., Mrs. Lilla Wink of Auburn, Miss Rose Merrill of South Paris, and Mrs. Doris Jewell of South Paris.

He was a member of Abou Ben Adhem Lodge of Odd Fellows of Auburn. He is also survived by a twin brother, George Merrill of Auburn.

The funeral of Mr. Merrill was held at the home, Sunday afternoon, attended by Rev. John M. Gowler. Members of Abou Ben Adhem Lodge of Auburn were bearers. A number of relatives and friends from Auburn and other places were here for the funeral. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

Miss Mae Knapp is home from Farmington Normal School for the holidays.

Lloyd Cutting, a senior in the Y. M. C. A. Training School in Springfield, Mass., has been spending several days here with relatives and friends.

The Campfire Girls will lead the Community sing at the tree in Market square, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. About midnight they will tour the streets and sing Christmas carols at homes where a light in a window will be an invitation for a selection.

The skating rink in the high school yard was opened this week. Cold weather permitted a good surface to be made without removing several inches of snow which covered the first coat.

There was a good attendance at the junior play in Grange Hall Saturday night when "And Mary Did" was presented under the direction of Miss Taylor. There were specialties between the acts by Ted Chandler, who cracked jokes and by Ernest Goodwin the chap with tapping feet.

The sermon, "Keeping Christ in Christmas" at the Congregational church last Sunday was an appeal for less commercialism and more conservation of self in the celebration of the Christian festival. Appropriate decorations were sung by the Ladies' Quartet and by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dwyer. In the evening a Christmas carol service was given by the orchestra, Miss Dorothy Dean, violin, Clarence Huff, trumpet, James Mason, trombone, Howard Shaw, saxophone, and Mrs. Bernice Wilson, piano. There were two vocal duets by Mrs. A. K. Ripley and Agnes Perkins. Rev. Rensli H. Colby spoke on "Christmas Songs from Many Lands" and included many familiar church hymns having their origin in America, Germany, England and Italy.

Ivan Combs has a new truck for the deliveries from the Paris Candy Shoppe. The color is black and orange in keeping with the color scheme of the store.

An entertainment was given in Association Hall, Tuesday evening as a benefit for the Kiwanis Club by the Norway high school dramatic and musical club under the direction of Mrs. James Cole and Eleanor Wood of the faculty. The musical comedy, "Blind Date", with specialties, made up the program. The play was enjoyed by a fair sized crowd. Net proceeds will be devoted to local work of the club.

Henry Plummer, poultry raiser and playing manager of the Norway Paris baseball team in Pine Tree League, has employment with a large forestry concern in New York state and left town, recently for the position. He was the successful candidate among fourteen applicants.

FREELAND I. CUMMINGS

Freeland I. Cummings died suddenly at two o'clock, Wednesday morning, Dec. 21, at his home on East Oxford road.

He was born in Paris, Dec. 27, 1869, the son of Isaac D. and Sarah Hicks Cummings. He married Hattie Crockett and they had one son, a second wife was Alice Martin, and they had two children. Mr. Cummings was a member of the Paris Grange.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Helen Cairns and two sons, Leslie and Millard.

SWEDEN

The hunting season is over and no accidents in this town. One hunter shot a hare before they start out so they don't look so much like wild animals. We suppose that is one reason and another is that the Swedes are all very well headed and don't shoot until they know what they're shooting at.

Mrs. Percy Grover was some pleased when she struck her home with her deer, weight 103 lbs., which is considerable heavier than she is, but she got it just the same. The last day of the season the hunters looked like Coxe's army marching up and down Plummer's hill.

Friday morning was rather cold, four below zero, that will do pretty well. Enfield Plummer walked down to call on Mr. and Mrs. Perley Willey one day last week.

Percy Grover and wife, Earl Grover, and Stuart Skillinges spent the day at E. S. Plummer's one day last week.

Charles Saunders is busy butchering now.

Perley Willey commenced chopping timber on the Walter Davis lot, Monday morning.

Jim Jackson helped Wendel Plummer dress his hog, Tuesday, Dec. 20th.

BRIDGTON

Those on the "A" list at Bridgton high school are Wilma Flint, Frances Mains, Florence Stevens, Frederick Gleason, Gladys Haworth, Mary Monk, Henry Storey, Parker Stuart, Paul Stump and Cecilia Ward. The students receiving "A's" and "B's" are as follows: Madelyn Bennett, Rosa Burns, Shirley Dyer, Mildred Emery, James Fessenden, Carl Gallinier, Maxine Dyer, Janet Fitzpatrick, Betty Kilgore, Ellen Mabry, Daniel Robinson, Charles Stone, Raymond Allen, Almon Barker, Ralph Burnell, Mary Corlies, Norman Delano, Carolyn Dow, Ruth Foster, Lawrence Potter, Marion Sherman, Virginia Stout, Elsie Treadwell, Evangeline Voyer, Burton Cushman, Lillian Flint, Gertrude Moulton, Phyllis Norton, Leona Pendexter and Curtis Smith.

Ruth Brown, a junior at Bridgton high school has been elected by the Board of Industry at Portland for surgical treatment.

Mrs. Fred Thompson of Hallowell, who has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Keene for two weeks, has returned to her home.

Mrs. George L. Kilgore and granddaughter, Miss Marion Turner of Hallowell, also Mrs. Gladys Small and daughter, Miss Thelma Small of West Gardiner have been calling on Mr. and Mrs. John W. Keene.

Mrs. Frank Stone is confined to the house by reason of illness and is under a doctor's care.

Adolph Dietrich motored to Massachusetts, Saturday, to bring his wife and son home, who have been visiting friends and relatives there for three weeks.

Hugh Smart of Sweden, peddler meat through this village every week. Anybody who knows Hugh and has come to know him can testify as to the good quality of his meat, also to the cleanliness of his cart.

Earle Douglass, who has been confined to a wheel chair for some time, says that his general health is very good and he looks it. It is wonderful to see one so jolly and cheerful as he under such circumstances. Earle has always been a hard working man, a plumber by trade, working for the City of Waterville in this town. He is taken good care of by his faithful daughter-in-law, Gertrude Douglass and his grandson, Max, at his pretty home on Maple street.

Mrs. Annie L. Davis and her husband, Walter Davis, who live in Waterville, recently, the trip was a little too much for her since her operation last fall and she isn't feeling as well as usual. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buswell of Izegals Hill Dist. are living with Mrs. Libby this winter as usual, since the death of her husband two years ago.

Walter Davis has sold his pine timber near the Sidney Gray place, Sweden, to Bell of Fryburg Center, who will log it at once. It will be landed on the river at Hemlock bridge, East Fryburg road for the Deering Lumber Co.

Mrs. Brainard Wentworth of Harrison Road has been spending several days in Sweden; she walked from Black Mountain schoolhouse, down by her old home and across the woods via Little Pond and Lower Kezar, made a call on her mother, Mrs. Emma Gordon, who is housekeeper for Wm. Smart, where she met her husband and rode home by auto. Some brave lady we call her. She deserved a deer if any woman does. Lillian inherited the sporting instinct for fish and game from her father, Walter Gordon, who provided his family of five with fish and game most of the time when in season. Her husband is usually lucky in that line.

When your correspondent was young (that was years ago) she knew of her father and Lillian's father to catch two hundred or more brook trout on Dock brook after school hours. W. H. and C. G. Gordon shot over sixty ducks and partridges in a fall, besides catching several foxes, muskrat, mink and coon.

There was no limit on the number those days. They also caught several barrels and boxes of pickerel for their brother in Massachusetts, who was then superintendent of several restaurants in Boston. We love to look upon the past and almost live in it as we older grow. It was nothing for them to catch several three to five pound pickerel some days.

Children Made Happy
Enjoy Community Play House

A sign, "Norway Home for All" was placed on the door of a small building just off Summer street in the town. The common expression "You can't tell the label" finds a good example here, for the sign of the home is on the door to a thirteen years. As a matter of fact the building is a play house, set up by James Cleveland for the children of the town. His daughters were a little thing, and he wanted to give them a place where they could play and be happy.

After chairs, tables, a stove, a lamp, and a radio, the home was complete. The other household necessities were furnished by the children and their friends. The home is a place where the children can play and be happy.
